

KIMBERLEY MCGRAW EUSTON

Throughout her 25+ year career, Kimberley Euston has worked with heads of State, advised leading financiers on foreign currency strategies and has helped her customers with large scale transformational programs. Kimberley joined PwC in 2008 where she is the National Business Development Leader for the Technology, Media and Telecommunications Sector. Before joining PwC, she was the President of McGraw Euston Associates where she worked with Fortune 500 Companies, C-Suite Executives and Individuals. Her firm specialized in Career Counseling, Executive Coaching and Recruiting.

From 1993 to 2004, Euston worked in the $1.7-trillion-a-day currency markets, most recently at Bank of America where she managed the U.S. Investor Sales Team for Global Foreign Exchange. Before working in the financial arena, she worked in public service, first with the Bureau of International Narcotics at the U.S. Department of State and then on the Vice President's National Security Staff at the White House.

She has a bachelor's degree in international relations and government from Sweet Briar College where she graduated Phi Beta Kappa and Magna Cum Laude. She attended the Foreign Policy Institute at American University and recently participated in the WICT Senior Executive Summit at the Stanford University Graduate School of Business.

Euston, a mother of three, is one of four women profiled in "Risk/Reward," an award-winning documentary about women who work on Wall Street. The film was shown at prestigious international film festivals, including the Tribeca Film Festival, in theaters around the globe and on the Oxygen cable network. She was honored as one of Working Mother Magazine's top working mothers of the year. In February she was the Board Champion honoree at Atlanta Business Chronicle's inaugural Leaders in Corporate Citizenship Awards.

Kimberley has served on various non-profit boards including Covenant House Georgia, Leadership Atlanta, WICT Southeast Chapter, United Way Women's Leadership Circle, Synchronicity Theatre and Meals on Wheels. She has been a panelist at the WICT Leadership Summit and a also a speed mentor.