WarnerMedia

Roxanne Cloutier leads Enterprise Systems and Strategic Planning as Senior Vice President at WarnerMedia. Her group includes numerous application development teams that help support over 80 business units in meeting their strategic goals through technology enablement.

Cloutier and her global team of over 250 employee resources partner with the business to develop short and long-range strategic roadmaps and implement approximately 70-100 key initiatives annually. Her team manages an application portfolio of over 500 applications, platforms, tools and services that support media business operations and enterprise business functions including finance, HR, legal, global real estate and more.

Prior to joining WarnerMedia, Cloutier gained decades of experience in IT and application development at companies including Aetna Life and Casualty, IBM, Pepsi Cola, Computer Associates, and PwC (formerly PricewaterhouseCoopers).

She earned her degrees from the College of William and Mary. She has also earned several technology recognition awards from the STEM Women of Color organization, NAMIC, The Technology Association of Georgia, and the Black Engineers of the Year (BEYA) organization.

Cloutier is an active leader in her church and community where she spends a considerable amount of time mentoring church ministry leaders, students and young professionals. She is a member of ITSME, Women in Technology, NAMIC, Women in Cable and Telecommunications, Black IT Professionals, Christian Leadership Foundation, Women of Faith, and The Technology Association of Georgia.
