

Tia Lopez is a technical operations supervisor in Comcast's Atlanta market. In this role, she guides a team of passionate technicians through their everyday work shift and careers.

Lopez joined Comcast in 2017 as a telecommunications technician and quickly established herself as driven and influential team member. Throughout her career she has leveraged SCTE-ISBE, WICT training, seminars and mentorship programs to continuously develop her skill sets. In 2019, Lopez was named the recipient of the Catherine Oakes Memorial Leadership Scholarship for Women by the SCTE-ISBE Foundation. Tia adamantly believes that by investing time in how each individual employee would like to further their careers provides them motivation to not only perform better, but also devote time to their education and learning new skills.

Today, Tia works side by side with her peers to drive engagement and support the career advancement of all employees. Through the many resources groups at Comcast and in industry, Lopez often bridges the gap to ensure opportunities and knowledge is accessible to everyone.
